DETAILED ACTION

1. The indicated allowability of claims 5-9 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Morrison et al. (US 6,789,671 B2). Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow. The Examiner regrets any inconvenience experienced by the Applicant due to prior indication of allowable subject matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 5-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Morrison et al. (US 6,789,671 B2).

A cargo tie-down system comprises in combination a tie down device (22,28) and a housing (10). The tie down device comprises a tie-down strap (22) and a locking mechanism (28) to tension the strap. The housing comprises a sack (18) having a volume sufficient to contain the excess tie-down strap and a generally flat portion (12,14,16) that contains the locking mechanism (between 12 and 14) and foldable upon the flat portion and securable thereon (when not in use) (Figs. 1-3).

The generally flat portion comprises a pair of spaced slits (between 12 and 16 and between 14 and 16) through which the tie-down strap is threaded (Fig. 1-3).

The generally flat portion has opposite free ends and the opposite free ends can be adapted to be folded onto one another to enclose the sack (when not in use) (Figs. 1-3).

The generally flat portion has opposite free ends and the opposite free ends can be folded onto one another to enclose the locking mechanism (when not in use) (Figs. 1-3).

One of the slits is spaced inwardly of the sack (Figs. 1-3).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 5-9 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Especially most of the limitations are considered intended use limitations and a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Saenz (US 4,699,401), Petuese (US 4,878,277), Tsai (US 4,937,920), Smith (US 4,961,251), Butler (US 5,009,346), Fields et al. (US 5,351,370), Dalen (US 5,402,557), Hale (US D 382,995), Williams (US 5,947,354), Powers (US 6,138,331), MacNeil (US 6,318,621 B1), LaCoste (SU 6,651,854 B1) and Gorham, Jr. (US D 489,890 S) are cited to show state of the art with respect to a housing having some of the features being claimed by the current application.
